

Alleluia. Christ is risen.
The Lord is risen indeed. Alleluia

Rush to the tomb, he is risen, risen for you, for us, for all creation, yesterday, today and tomorrow.

The Resurrection, 15th Station
Artist, Janet McKenzie
(used with permission)

Frederick Buechner writes:

So what do I believe actually happened that morning on the third day after he died?
I can tell you this: that what I believe happened and what in faith and with great joy I proclaim, is that he somehow got up, with life in him again, and the glory upon him. And I speak very plainly here, very un fancifully. He got up. He said, "Don't be afraid."
...Love is the victor. Death is not the end. The end is life. His life and our lives through him, in him.
Existence has greater depths of beauty, mystery, and benediction than the wildest visionary has ever dared to dream. Christ our Lord has risen.

--Frederick Buechner, The End is Life, Bread and Wine

As we enter into the fullness of Maundy Thursday, Good Friday and Holy Saturday—
We offer you images and words for your prayer and reflection.

The Angels of Solace by the Artist Janet McKenzie (used with permission: <http://www.janetmckenzie.com/>) and a meditation offered by Silvia Gosnell (that will be shared in the Stations of the City on Good Friday that begins at Trinity Church, Boston following their Good Friday Service).
We are grateful to Janet and to Silvia, friends of Bethany House of Prayer who offer their gifts, presence, wisdom so generously.